Nominations for Council. Nominations for Council.

The Republicans of the Eighth ward who made no nominations two weeks ago, held a largely attended meeting at Labor Hall last evening for the purpose of placing, in nomination gentlemen to be voted for, for Council at the coming election to be held on the 25th inst. For a long time the Eighth was one of the banner Republecan wards and such it should have remained, but of late there has been some little dissatisfaction, and petty jealousies have crept in. It is now believed that that everthing has been arranged and that the Eighth will give a good report of itself on election day.

petty jealousies have crept in. It is now believed that that everthing has been arranged and that the Eighth will give a good report of itself on election day.

The ticket nominated is: For the First Branch, Stephen Waterhouse, Jr., for the Second Branch, Mesera. A. J. Schulize, Otto Vaeger, Conrad Leonhart and Chaa. Red's truth. This is a good representative ticket. Godfrey Schul was Chairman, and Stephen Waterlo 19se, Jr., sated as Secretary.

The Democrats of the Third ward met at the Court House last night for the purpose of holding a meeting to suggest the names of nominees for the First and Second Branches of Council to be voted for at Saturday's primary. THE LIVELY SCRAMBLE

The Senatorial scramble has been precipi tated upon the Legislature a little more sud-denly than was anticipated, and the fight is already raging among the majority with a terest at an early day. Yesterday a call for caucus to consider the Senatorial situation a caucus to consider the Senatorial situation was circulated among the members of both houses, and very generally signed. Senator Donehoo, Mr. Armstrong, of Jackson county, and Mr. Brown, jr., of Kanawha, declined to sign. Some members have not yet arrived in the city, and others for some reason did not sign the call while not refusing to do so positively.

Last evening when the House of Delegates adjourned the Clerk announced that a caucus of Democratio members would be held at half past seven. Mr. Brown, the younger, of Kanawha, objected with some earnestness, charactering an attempt to hold a caucus before all the Democrate had arrived as unfair. Mr. Garing arose and demanded of unfair. Mr. Garing arose and demanded of the Clerk that his name be erased from the call. He had signed it under a misunderstanding. Mr. Collins followed, making the same demand. He said his understanding was that the caucus would be postponed a day or so. Mr. Pennybacker followed suit, and Mr. Wells did likewise. Mr. Boggs also quickly withdrew his name. A lull followed, and the would-be caucussers breathed freer, but both the Messrs. Stump, Mr. Febell and Mr. Dailey came forward together and drew out. Eckard, McCullough, and Riffe, followed, leaving only seventeen members of the House and six Senators as signers to the call. That settled it. There was no caucus

It was noised about yesterday that Ex-Senator Hereford had given up the fight. Being asked if this were true, he said it was, and when inquired of as to the reason, he made the tollowing statement:

"There are four candidates. Some one had to withdraw, or have a long, vexatious and—to the State—a very expensive contest. After mature reflection, I determined upon the course I have taken, for the sake of peace and barmony in the ranks of the Democratic party.

peace and harmony in the ranks of the Democratic party.

I care more for the success of the Damocratic party than I do for a personal triumph. My party for ten years has honored me very highly by electing me three times to the House of Representatives and once to the Benate—a service of ten years—for which I feel very grateful and return my most sincer thanks.

Again, whilst in the United States Benate, I voted for what is known as the Thurman Bill, which was introduced and fathered by Senator Thurman, the Nestor of Democracy. Thurman's vote for that bill, as he told me, beat him in Ohio for the United States Senate.

Therefore, I thought it better for me to get out of the contest and let some one be voted for who had not cast that vote.

Their influences are at work against me on the present occasion.

In retiring from this contest I warn the Democracy of West Virginia against the everwhelming far-reaching influence of these immense monopolies, which threaten to destroy the liberties of this country and to create a dictatorship of a few men in every State."

He was employed as principal etcher at the Lina glass house, where his brother, W. H. Brinton, is secretary. By trade he is an iron roller, the trade of his father. He was at work as usual on last Saturday; but since that had seemed uneasy and unsettled, and had not been at work. One day this week he called on Madame Richardson, the fortune teller, who has been boarding at Mrs. Johnson's, where he also boarded, and had his fortune told. According to the account he gave to some friends, she drew a very dark picture of the cloud under which he was living and which she said he might live to escape; but that he was threatened with one much heavier later in life. But this only helped the depression under which he abored already. Part of his troubles arose from his connection with a yoing woman of Bellaire, and he was heard to threaten to put an end to it all by taking himself out of the world. The vote was the same as for Speaker annual supper at Fred. Kies' saloon.

The St. 'Gaiswille Gazette, the Democratic organ of Belmont county, will. after February 1, be under the control of Isaac M. Riley, Esq., by whom it has been purchased. Gaumer, the present editor and proprietor of the Gazette, goes to Mansfield to take charge of the Stield and Banner, the Democratic organ of Richiand county. Mr. Gaumer has had control of the Gazette for the past nine years, and its present circulation bears ample testianony to his efficient management. The last editor of the Shield and Banner edited the Gazette a number of years ago. Mr. Gaumer pays twelve thousand dollars for the Shield and Banner. Nominations for Doorkeeper were called for, and Mr. Dovener arose, and said that he was instructed by a respectable minority to present the name of a candidate whom they considered eminently ift for the position. He knew him personally, and he concientiously and cheerfully vouched for his ability to fill the position with satisfaction to the House and credit to himself. As Mr. Dovener proceeded with his very flattering remarks, Mr. Nealis, the candidate of the majority, who confidently expected to be elected to his old position, smiled in coarcous safety. But when the Speaker appealed to the majority to grant the minority this one unimportant office, the Democratic aspirant's face changed expression, and as the appeal became more and more earnest, Nealis lost his ruddy color. Finally Mr. Dovener said: "And I name for the position, relying upon the generosity of the majority for his triumphant election, James P. Nealis." The sigh of relief and blush of satisfaction which showed the candidates, agreeable surprise was generally overlooked, the surprise being shared by all but those who were in the secret, and when the members realized Mr. Dovener's clever ruse, Expose yourself day and night, eat too much without exercise, work too hard with-out rest, doctor all the time, take all the ide nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know How to get well—which is answered in hree words—take Hop Bitters. In a conversation with Dr. James E. Reeves, of this city, Secretary of the Board, yeaterday, he informed a reporter that he expected a large share of the attention of the Board would be devoted to the threaten-ed introduction of small pox into the State. The terrible disease is now raging as an epi-demic in Batimore, and the imminent peril of the infection's reaching West Virginia is apparent to the most causal observer. There laughter greeted him.

Mr. Holt, who had been selected to name Mr. Nealis on behalf of the Democrats was not to be cheated out of the opportu-nity to make a speech so easily, and he nity to make a speech so easily, seconded the nomination, hoping this one case party lines would not be drawn. They were not, and Mr. Neali

A resolution will probably also be adopted asking the passage of a measure now pending in Congress to enable the National Board of Health to resume its inspection of railroad traffic to detect dangerous freight or infected passengers.

"You consider that there is real danger of the introduction of smallpox, floctory" asked the reporter,

Mr. J. A. A slight dispute arose as to whether the message should be read, or laid on the table and ordered printed. The Clerk finally read it.
